As of today, March 13, we will continue to offer our studio based classes.

We plan to work with our artists and students to continue as long as we, as a community, feel it’s feasible to do so. Remember, our classes are small, our studios are big, and at all times we are less than 50% of our capacity. At the very least, we want to ensure those who want to finish their creative projects can do so. We are looking at other sites, like the libraries and the YMCAs, and following their closing protocols, too. It’s unclear how long we will continue our classes.

Please check your emails daily, as this is the best tool for communication.

We are closing our facility to the general public so that we may best protect our students, artists, staff and community.

Our facility remains open for our current students, instructors, tenants and their businesses.

Studio Sprouts is cancelled through April 15th.
DEC Award Ceremony on March 19th is cancelled.
One Giant Try It on March 22th is postponed to a later date.
Our participation in March 27th Troy Night Out is cancelled.
Exhibition viewing by appointment only.

We will be reassessing the situation weekly.

Again, please check your emails daily, as this is the best tool for communication.

We are cleaning and disinfecting the facilities repeatedly. And for those entering our space as renters, tenants, and students, remember:
Stay home if you are not feeling well and/or are exhibiting symptoms such as fever, dry cough, or shortness of breath.
Cover your mouth and nose when coughing or sneezing.
Wash and/or sanitize your hands regularly.

Thank you for your continued support of the Arts Center of the Capital Region

Stay Safe out there!
